ELECTRIC LIGHTS GO OUT AGAIN

Bassano People Grope in the Dark for Fifteen Minutes When Electric Power Failed for Second Successive Saturday Evening

More trouble in the electric power plant at Bassano. The lights went down last Saturday night at about 9:30 o'clock. This was the second successive Saturday for the electric lights to fail. This time the trouble was overcome and lights were turned on again in the shortest period of time in the recent history.

H. B. Sherman, superintendent of operation for the Calgary Power Co. Ltd., paid a visit to Bassano on Tuesday to investigate the trouble. He stated that the company would do everything possible to supply the town with good service.

OPPORTUNITY COMES TO DAIRY FARMERS

5,000,000 Pounds of Butter Must be Imported if Not Produced

OTTAWA—Now is the time for the Canadian dairy farmer to come in and make some money. This is the deduction he is drawn from the memorandum submitted to Hon. Robert Webb minister of agriculture, by J. F. Singleton, Dominion dairy controller, Ottawa, on Aug. 20.

Canada faces the necessity of importing nearly 5,000,000 pounds of butter this winter unless butter production in this country is stepped up very materially. Butter is selling at Montreal at present at 22 cents per lb. 1-2 cents above what it was which is a very substantial advance from last July when it was about 16-17 cents. New Zealand butter is selling in London now 19 1-4 cents. It could be laid down in Montreal at the same price. Add to this five cents a pound day to cover all the expense and the cost would be probably over 26 cents. Accordingly, the Canadian price can go up considerably more before there is any increase in butter production.

The butter supplies on hand are much below the supply at the same date last year, and last year's supplies were no more than adequate. So far the production of butter has been lower this year than last. For the seven months from Jan. 1 to the butter production for all Canada was 5.9 per cent below the year before. All the provinces from which returns are available show a decrease of production from last year's figures. Alberta being down 19.4 per cent.

So far in September, there also has been no indication of any increase in butter production.

W H E A T

An official report from Australia states that the condition of the wheat crop there is generally good. Australia increased wheat acreage last year, sowing some 18,000,000 acres, as a consequence.

Spain's new wheat crop is estimated at 189,569,000 bushels as compared with 134,400,660 bushels last year.

Russian sowings of winter wheat were 16,386,000 acres on September 1 as compared with 24,306,000 acres on the same date the previous year. In China the wheat crop is smaller than last year in those districts involved in the foreign trade in wheat and flour.

GEM NEWS

GEM, Sept. 26.—A wonderful yield of oats was harvested from Mr. Alfrey's farm near Gemi. His crop of ten acres plot of oats on Mr. Alfrey's farm, threshed by E. Turner's thresher, gave a return of 1,304 bushels. Some wonderful land in Gemi yet.

Owing to the busy season the dance scheduled for Sept. 26 will not take place in the Gem school as the rains have delayed the harvest. This dance will be held after harvest is over.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Foley and children, of Edmonton, are visiting relatives at the Calton & Williamson ranch.

M. Atkins and L. Standen were business visitors to Calgary on Thursday last.

Threshing is general again in the colony after being postponed at least three times owing to storms and heavy rains during the past few weeks.

Rev. J. F. Pisaniak, of Brooks, plans to hold R. C. services on All Saints Day, Nov. 1, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Maguire, where he will be pleased to meet all R. C. in the district.

THE PICTURES

"Sky Bride," a romantic adventure story, now becomes a thrilling motion picture aviation melodrama. Paramount has taken John Blithem's "Sky Bride" and has transformed it into a gripping personal history of how a "bird man" regales his lost courage and wins the love of the girl he adores. This picture depicts the hair-raising stunts of barnstorming aviators and their girls as they put over their stuff in an air-circus, a popular sports day feature.

According to Captain E. H. Robinson, aviation technical expert, stunt flying like that shown in "Sky Bride" is not safe. It requires a high degree of courage and skill.

Richard Arlen, who, with Virginia Bruce, Jack Oakie, Charles Starrett and Robert Coogan, features in "Sky Bride," feels greatly refreshed by his work in this picture. It refreshes him to see the public's reaction to his "Wings" and the dancing girls who made that famous scene.

Today in Hollywood, there are only sixteen authorized and licensed film flyers, all members of the Association of Motion Picture Pilots. Requirements for entrance into this organization are extremely rigid, and it is only after a careful examination of ability before he will be considered for membership.

Richard Arlen, a former member of the Royal Air Force, loves to fly. He is entirely at home in his "Sky Bride" role of a daredevil pilot, performing his aerial stunts with such spectacular results at times, was ousted from the Pacific coast tournament by Jimi Sato, clever Jack rabbit star who ranks considerably below Vines.

Max Schmidling, German heavy weight and champion boxer of the world, seems to be on the comeback trail. Max scored a technical knockout over Mickey Walker, sturdy Irish fighter. It doesn't seem likely that a German could lick an Irishman in the game of fistfights, but that's just what happened, and it was a clean-cut victory for the German.

Babe Ruth's 60 home run record still stands. Jimmy Foxx set a new run record of the record when he won the crown of the "Big B." Foxx clinched his fifth straight blow on Sunday in the last game of the season's last game.

The Canadian women's golf championship comes back to Canada from the United States next week. The all-Canadian final last Saturday when Miss Margery Kirkham, of Montreal defeated Mrs. Chas. E. Eddie, of Toronto.

Fred Perry, No. 2 ranking player from Great Britain, came from Britain's tennis honor when he won the Pacific coast championship Saturday. Perry defeated Jiro Sato, Japanese conqueror of Vines. Perry won 6-3, 6-4, 6-0.

With the slight batman of former years, Babe Ruth can still wallop old baseball, and it will be a most unusual world series for him if the Bombers don't put one or two over the bleachers.

Little Paul Hansen, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. K. Hansen of Maplesake, died very suddenly in the Bassano Hospital on Tuesday, Sept. 27 following a short illness. He was two and a half years old.

TREES BEING WATERED FOR LAST TIME

The town public works department has been busy the past week or so with the watering of the trees on the streets. Irrigation water is being run in all the ditches and the trees are being given a final watering in preparation for the winter.

Residents are advised to water the trees on their premises now. If given a good soaking in the fall the ground will freeze hard in the winter, thus preventing any subsequent freezing of the sap, with subsequent freezing, when the first mild spell in February arrives.

$2.00 a year in Canada; $2.50 in U.S.

A certain candidate in the coming United States election, a prohibitionist, is painting a "wet" and horrible picture of conditions in Calgary under government control. The candidate is citing specific examples of terrible acts which occurred in the old prohibition days. While the United States liquor question may not be of any great importance to us, Alberta people represent being falsely accused and misrepresented by American electioneers. Our system of government control is not perfect, but it is a big improvement over the old prohibition days.

Half naked and starving Gandhi seems to exert a powerful influence over the British government. His methods are simple and effective but anyone else attempting to use them would probably fail.

BETTER OUTLOOK FOR BUTTER PRICES

Figures given out by the Dominion Department of Agriculture would indicate a low production of butter in Canada, and smaller stocks of butter on hand than those of a year ago.

The report also says there is no indication so far that September, of an increase in production. This would lead to the conclusion that butter prices are due for a rise.

Butter prices have already advanced during the past two months, and they can increase still more before meeting a new price competition from the New Zealand product, according to Hon. Robt. Weir, Canada's minister of agriculture.

The production of butter has become an important side-line with many farmers in the P. E. I. and irrigation Block. The Bassano Creamery has built up a substantial business on the butter produced in this area, and farmers ship their cream cans here from points as far distant as Pillon and Jonker just east outside the irrigation block. A further rise in butter prices will be of immediate importance to these farmers.

WILL DO THEIR BEST

Bassano was again plunged in darkness last Saturday evening when the power line gave out. It was not until Saturday morning that this had occurred.

The power trouble at Bassano was the reason for a visit to the town by H. B. Sherman, operating superintendent of the Calgary Power Co., who reside here on Monday. Sherman regretted the inconvenience caused by power trouble here, but gave his assurance that the power company would do everything they possibly could to give the town good service.

On previous occasions we have had similar experiences following complaints of failure of the electric current. It is hoped that the company will really make a sincere effort to back up Mr. Sherman's assurance. No one can expect the Calgary Power Company's system to operate perfectly at all times, but consumers do expect a good, reliable service with infrequent breakdowns.

CAN STILL PRODUCE HEAVY YIELDS

The straight wheat farmer has been frequently criticized from some quarters for his system of raising wheat and nothing but wheat. His crop-growing system, however, is fully dubbed as "wheat mining" and the honest tiller of the wheat fields has himself turned a soil robber.

While the growing of a wheat crop will take a certain amount of plant food from the soil, the amount must be exceedingly small, for big wheat yields are being harvested in Alberta this year on land that has been raising wheat for 20 to 25 years. The same district has a bumper crop to 50 bushels per acre being harvested on many farms. It is the biggest crop in the history of that district where wheat has been raised in large quantities for the past two decades.

This doesn't look like soil depletion.

The Trochu crop grew under ideal conditions. The land was sun-bleached where the yields are biggest, and nature supplied abundant rainfall during the right time. If there was any apprehension, so far as the yield would be less than those of fifteen or twenty years ago. Actually, this year's wheat yields are as big as ever.

The Bassano crop was remarkable, and the productivity of the Bassano district is no exception. A few more rains here during the growing season and our farmers would have had a bumper crop too.

News of the Week

SEES GERMANY AGAIN GREAT ARMED POWER*NO FORCE ON EARTH CAN HALT MILITARY REVIVAL, SAYS VON SEESTK

MUNICH, Bavaria, Sept. 26.—"There is no force on earth that can prevent Germany from becoming a great military power," said General Hans Von Seestk, friend of the Hohenzollerns and most famous of Germany's living military strategists, made this statement here on Monday.

And he added: "The world must be prepared to see Germany help herself as far as necessary." He referred to Germany's move to expand her armed forces as nearly as possible to the equal of her armed forces before the war.

FEAR THREE JAPANESE FLIES OCEAN PILOTS LOST

TOKIO, Sept. 26.—Fear that the three Japanese flies who set out Saturday morning on a goodwill flight to the United States had been lost in a weekend storm. Great day as no word was received from the flyers since their departure.

Requests were made to the Russian and United States embassies that searches be made over Kanchakka and the Aleutian Islands off the Alaskan coast.

SPLIT FORCES IN BRITISH GOVERNMENT

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Fever that Sir John Simon's Liberal followers will join Sir Herbert Samuel's opponents to the Ottawa conference against the National government attaches has kept Premier MacDonald, Lord Halifax and J. H. Thomas busy throughout the weekend devising compromises and alternatives.

Local Liberal associations are urging Prime Minister John A. Liberal to resign with the Samuels, form a reunited Liberal party and go into opposition to what would be virtually a Conservative government.

GERMANY IMPOSES NEW IMPORTANT RESTRICTIONS ON FARMERS

MUNICH, Bavaria, Sept. 26.—A series of new regulations intended to relieve the distress of farmers throughout Germany and including import quota restrictions on a number of items was announced here today by Baron von Braun, minister of agriculture in the Von Papen cabinet.

The measures also included reduction by two per cent of the interest rates on long term mortgages for agricultural purposes, however, that the rate not be less than four per cent and that the amount of the reductions be re-funded on maturity of the mortgage.

COTTON STRIKE IN BRITAIN ENDED; OUTLOOK BRIGHT

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The signal for British industry is again set "all clear." The Lancashire cotton strike is over. A milk war has been averted. Difficulties of the London bus service have been overcome. Rail services are noted as export demand for Britain's coal. British shipbuilding, which has been passing through a period of unparalleled stagnation, is looking forward to an early recovery.

Mill owners and union representatives have ended the Manchester cotton workers' strike except for a few formal details, agreement having been reached on reinstatement of men. This was the main remaining point of dispute. On Friday a wage agreement was drawn up and accepted on both sides providing for a reduction of 3-1/2 per cent in pay.

SPENCER ATTACKS BANK MONOPOLY OF CREDITS

CALGARY, Sept. 26.—The Bank of Canada, nothing against the performance of the banking bank, but only criticized the banking system. H. E. Spencer, M. P. for Battle River, in his address at the meeting held in the Legion Hall, Sunday night, stressed the need of changes in the system and the ending of "Socialization of Credit."

Mr. Spencer, who was speaking under the auspices of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, said that the banking system was merely a bookkeeping system, the banks having largely a monopoly control of short term credits. This, he said, meant that the banks through their control of finances could make or break businesses as they wished.

He said that this fact was well known, but that people who were aware of the state of affairs hesitated to criticize the banks because they were at their mercy and the banks controlled all the credit of the country.

PRISON GATES CLOSE BEHIND JOHN MACRAE

WINNIPEG, Sept. 23.—The doors of Stony Mountain penitentiary clanged shut today behind the frail figure of John A. Macrae, 87 years old, who was sentenced to life imprisonment of the endowment fund of the University of Manitoba and of the Church of England, began serving a seven-year term on two charges of theft.

Macrae, in prison, is reported to have been a thief for 40 years.

And he added: "The world must be prepared to see Germany help herself as far as necessary." He referred to Germany's move to expand her armed forces as nearly as possible to the equal of her armed forces before the war.

HORSE STILL USED IN LARGE NUMBERS ON CANADIAN FARM

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—The automobile and the tractor, have displaced the horse on the Canadian farm only to a small extent, says a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of statistics today.

In 1931 85.26 per cent of the farmers kept horses, and last year at the census, reports the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, 86.89 per cent kept horses, the actual number being 125,300,000, compared with 125,915,000 in 1931. The decrease is 4 per cent.

However, the decrease in the number of horses on farms is greater than in the number of tractors.

In 1931 15.26 per cent of the farmers kept horses, and last year at the census, reports the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, 14.74 per cent kept horses, the actual number being 13,617,000, compared with 13,619,000 in 1931. The decrease is 0.14 per cent.

For the 1931 census there was an average of 6.7 horses per farm compared with 6.3 in 1931.

Of the 582,019 farms reporting horses in Canada, 233,161, or 46.93 per cent report three horses or fewer, 191,651 or 2.93 per cent from four to nine, 67.4 per cent from 10 to 14; 8,57 per cent from 15 to 19 horses; 11,512 or 1.98 per cent report 20 or more horses.

U. S. AFTER WHEAT MARKET IN THE ORIENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Federal aid in an attempt to move many millions of bushels of privately owned Northwestern American wheat to China was discussed Sunday by President Hoover and high government officials, at the hurriedly called meeting.

Although definite figures were not available it was said in one reliable quarter the proposed sale might amount to 15 million bushels or more.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT WILL COMPROMISE WITH GANDHI

PONCA, India, Sept. 26.—Mahatma Gandhi, inspiring by news that the British government at Almora had approved most of the demands put forward on the principles of Indian touchables in legislative elections, broke his "death fast" of protest this afternoon.

The decision of the British cabinet to meet with representatives of the Indian legislature early this morning after a meeting which lasted until nearly midnight last night and in which Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald participated.

The news was cabled here immediately and was met with great rejoicing. At Silvassa, home of the Indian legislative assembly school with loud cheers and a similar scene took place in the council of state as the announcement was made.

"FIRST LOVES"

by FELIX RIESENBERG

SEVENTH INSTALLMENT
John Bremen sauntered with his valises, and then spent the night searching the pages, wringing from them the ecstasy that went into their making.

As he hurriedly grabbed and collected his valises, the boy realized, he visioned a greater, easier life than all of the astonishments of the surrounding city.

Robert Malcolm, his teacher, met John one Saturday morning by accident. They were in Bushell Square. "John, I live over this way. Come in and have tea. Mrs. Malone will be happy to see you. I've been telling her of your progress."

"I've had no time to clean and wash," John dropped spoons, blushed, stammered. Robert Malcolm seemed like an angel in his gingham dress, and the baby, tucked in a crib, clutched his pink hands about his fingers. It had never occurred to John that he could be so clean and could seem so happy.

Malcolm smoked a pipe, and John, like a wild thing, sat tongue-tied. "Are there many places like this?" he finally asked, his tones harsh. Robert Malcolm overheard the question.

"Millions of them," she smiled, "only much finer than this."

John knew the quiet-voiced woman was a little birdie for the rest of the visit. And when it was time to go, and when his friend took him to the Square and walked with him far away as Fourteenth Street, John Bremen headed back to the Bowery more bewildered than ever.

John Bremen had lost his interest in fighting, in the greater thrill of the fight too fast to be prised, the consciousness always lying ahead. He was spurred on by curiosity, and not by ambition. He was the primitive climbing to the top of a mountain, not for food or treasure but for the sheer joy of the climb, a joy in which both John and the trainer shared with enthusiasm. The green country was a refreshment to John Bremen. In those brief moments, before he dropped into a fainting fit, he was conscious of a fainting fit, a vast plain of tenements, basking with lights and the jumbled voices and cries of millions, as if he had alighted in the midst of it suddenly, as he had, and as if it was his home. The train, the great platform of a train, whirling him away. The quick rumble of the wheels of his ideas, jolting him to sleep.

And on Saturday Gilbert Van Horn, Judge Marvin Hart and the great insurance magnate E. K. Morris, who was known as the strict, sagacious and Spartan simplicity of Pug Malone's training farm.

Van Horn and Johnny Brewn were thrown together and unconsciously, though strongly attracted, each other.

Two weeks after the arrival of the trio the hags with their elaborate provision for comfort, their toilet sets, silk pajamas, and fancy knick-knacks, the country tattered of city folk, were again on the verandahs of the farm, standing in groups, hour and cheerfully, marched up, took their traps down to the waiting buckboard and then, of a sudden, they rushed back yelling like Indians. They grabbed the trainer, hollered his name, shoulders, called him down the field and tossed him on a hay stack.

"Boys, you're better off I expected," Pug shouted, waving to them as they ran for the buckboard, calling "goodbye" to John Bremen and Pug, while the grizzled old man, with the exotic name, waded in the kitchen doorway, and the exasperated face of the driver, told of extraordinary largeness by the departing guests.

Pug Malone became the sole owner of the farm, for Judge Kelly intended the fall measure of his worth, and besides advertising it would earn extra money for the trainer. Van Horn became a frequent visitor, and brought many of his friends, who seemed to be more interested in John Bremen than in the farm. E. K. Southward said nothing, but sent Malone a cheque that almost took his breath away.

John was applying himself to his work, but he was a negligible factor, his son, Pug, had got to turn the trick, three at a time. If you set 'em up right H. messes a big thing for you, a damn big thing, I should say."

"What joint do you say it was?" "Greenough Farm, a fancy place, I guess, up in Westchester. Kelly owned it; got it handed to him, or something."

"I'll need Bremen," Malone spoke as if to himself. "I'll put Kelly in charge of the Corner."

Greenough Farm consisted of a fair acreage of rocky uneven land upon which a roomy comfortable house was sinking gradually into the ground.

Carpenters from the city, working under direction of Pug Malone, converted the barn into a practical garage, with a roomy workshop, and men and sons engaged to run the place, milk the cows, tend the garden, and the chickens, and cook the meal.

The farmhouse itself was given a thorough cleaning. The main paper was stripped from the place, the plaster sanded and coated with washable tint. Floors were painted, and bed rooms were prepared on a model of Spartan simplicity. Canvas coats and stockings, which were, were worn out, and a small rug was added by way of luxury. Three pegs were driven in the floor for the hanging up of clothes, and all closets were locked and nailed. There were no lights, there was absolutely nothing to distract from the business of sleeping, for which the rooms were designed.

Pug also fitted the windows with crests, which prevented them from closing by a foot at the bottom and the rather tall figure of Gilbert Van Horn, on one of their long walks, in early September, a casual observer might have pronounced them father and son. Gilbert Van Horn and John Bremen had become friends, and the two men had settled upon a name and called upon it.

They talked as they had long talked on many subjects. Van Horn's interest in the prize ring and John's ability and knowledge gave them much to talk. The boy, however, of which they saw together, had long ceased to be an absorbing interest with John Bremen.

"Gill." He paused for a moment.

"The older man was puffing as they lit over a rise of ground, and I haven't fought in the ring since Pug came up here. Fact is, I'm not so sure there is any real fight in the business. Gill, it's a rotten business, John."

"I've made up my mind to break this training, Gill."

"I guess you would. John."

HANDLING THE BREEDING FLOC KOP POULTRY

Has two years of age or over should be selected for breeding purpose, so that only proven layers are used. Eggs from the older birds generally show a higher percentage of fertility as compared with the older eggs, and the chicks are larger and stronger and earlier hatching, resulting in fewer losses.

Birds for the breeding pens should be of good size and type for the breed and free from standard defects. It is most desirable that one should know the characteristics of that breed or species or production. Where trap nesting has been practised, however, those with good records are readily known. Only individuals with good egg records should be used for breeding, and the best of the poor layers or those produce small, maimed, or off colored eggs, for the breed should be discarded, as these characteristics are likely to be transmitted to the progeny.

The male should always be good type, well built, and vigorous. Registered, H. O. P., or government approved cockerels should be used, if possible, as it is important that they be backed by high production ancestry.

The female should be more than half the flock.

Females to be used for breeding should be allowed about two months rest at the end of the laying season. During this time, their diet should consist largely of scratch grain. When it is desired to bring them back to production the mash is increased and scratch grain decreased. All changes in feed should be gradually, however. An abundance of green grass should be provided, in addition to the regular mash and grain feeds, oyster shell, grit, etc., especially previous to and during the breeding season.

Exercise and direct sunlight are also important. Sufficient exercise should be provided, by allowing a deep litter in the pen and feeding the scratch grain in it.

Direct sunlight may be obtained by opening the windows when possible in mild weather. A teaspoonful of lime water per chick or ten birds per day in the mash will help to supply any deficiency in this respect.

The breeding pens may be made up in January, allowing ten to

RUSSIA SELLS OIL TO CANADA AND JAPAN

MOSCOW, Sept. 26.—A large slice of the refined oil market in Japan, which hitherto has been shared almost wholly by the British and United States interests, has been captured by Soviet Russia, and important influences were officially drawn from this development to-day.

One was the deal for "more than 200,000 tons of refined oil will have an economic effect on the development of our oil industry," according to Japanese relatives.

It is now revealed that the contract, the five-year period beginning in 1933, but the price involved in the transaction was not given.

Soviet Russia recently concluded an agreement with France for the sale of ten million tons of oil products during the next five years in France.

The French and Japanese oil sales were supplemented by one in Canada, all within the single month of September.

GRAVE FINANCIAL PROBLEMS FAU'S FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—With matters of national finance, governmental policies, and party politics all pressing for attention at the same time when the session of parliament opened yesterday, the business of getting ready for the impending session of parliament, cabinet ministers are in the doubtfully happy position these days of being secure against apathy, boredom, or uncertainty.

Unquestionably the most important of the several matters which are facing the ministry, outweighing for the moment even the Imperial conference agreements, is the financial problem. Some money must be found, and it is not yet decided how much it may be, only $100,000,000 or it may be $150,000,000. But whatever the amount is decided upon will have to be secured pretty soon.

The average stretch of a tornado is about one-eighth of a mile across and 20 miles long, and is so sharply defined that houses on one side of the street may be demolished completely while those on the other side are unharmed.

DO YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

(by Edson R. Wattle)

R. S. Hay, publisher of the Hooperston, Illinois, Chronicle-Herald, says: That most of the shopping for the average family is done in the living room at home. Jane learns what she wants to buy from the catalogues, and Harry sees a picture of the perfect bathing suit and starts to talk Dad out of the old one. Dad makes a quick trip to buy the new one.

Mother, purchasing soap for the family, goes over the ads with a fine-tooth comb. Tomorrow she will down town to buy: tooth paste, dental soap, nail polish, perfume, cosmetics, mesh undies and laundry soap, salt, flour, sugar, bacon, eggs, ham, and争创 wife, pork roast and breakfast food, parkerhouse rolls, bread and angel cake, fox for Junior Castorina and cottage cheese, strawberries, mayonnaise and hard boiled eggs.

Methuselah is making her tentative shopping decisions tonight. From the newspaper ads she is mentally listing the things she wants, and deciding on which stores she will visit.

Lloyd Roach left last Saturday for Leuty, Saskatchewan, where he was called by the sudden death of his mother.

Miss Grace Scheer spent the weekend at her home near Strathmore, and E. Macdonald, of Wardlow, was in Bassano last Sunday to visit Miss Bradshaw who is a patient in the hospital here.

Mrs. A. G. Scott has returned from a trip to Edmonton.

Geo. Goudy is a patient in the local hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

MacLEAN: In ever loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Catherine F. MacLean, who passed away September 27th, 1930.

This is a day of remembrance and one of sadness.

This is a day we shall always remember when the rest of the world forgot. Surrounded by friends we are lonely some,

In the midst of our joys we are sad. With a smile on our face we have a melancholy look in our eyes.

Longing dear for you.

Sadly missed by Father, Mother, Sisters, Brothers, and Grandparents.

MacLEAN: In sincere memory of Catherine F. MacLean, who died Sept. 27th, 1930.

She died as she lived, everybody's friend.

Friends are friends when they prove true to us.

But we lost our best friend when we lost you.

Ever remembered by a Friend.
